Customs Tests its Proposed Physical Fitness Qualification Test

BARRIGADA, GUAM – In order to obtain data on the Customs and Quarantine Agency's (CQA's) proposed Physical Abilities Test (CQPAT) the Agency's Training Section welcomed all employees to voluntarily participate in a trial run held this morning from 0700 – 1100 hrs.

15 Officers volunteered their time. The average age of all who participated was 42.8 yrs. All participants passed.

This is the first in what we plan will be several voluntary events so that officers in the different sections and shifts can participate as we move toward compliance with the law.

The Agency's CQPAT obstacle course was submitted to the POST Commission and the Guam Legislature for approval. Once approved, the course will become the new standard for the Agency by December 2019.
